19.10.2021 – Reply from LCC Highways re request for signage warning of pedestrians on road at Greetwell Railway Bridge – ‘We are sorry but we are not taking immediate action with this report. The use of a triangular sign to warn drivers of pedestrians in the road ahead is restricted to locations where there is clear evidence of heavy/frequent use by pedestrians who have to walk on the carriageway due to the lack of proper footway provision. Whilst the location in question does not have any footway provision there is currently no evidence of its frequent use by pedestrians which might lead the Council to consider warning drivers of their presence in the road. The Council has for a number of years been reducing the number of unnecessary signage within its highway network and we are afraid that we are not taking further action on this request at this time.’
